

Here's the solution.

A simple way to design and build custom structures.

Design and build simple or complex shapes, scale them up or down for your needs, preview what it will look like in real life, order parts, and assemble at home.

Why do it?

People are inherently creative.

Most people learned how not to be creative. Let's reverse that and provide a tool anyone can use to create really useful things for their own home.